

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA

Chris Scribe,
Plaintiff,

ANSWER

- against -

Pat Tracer,
dba Cool Pumpkin Patterns on the Web,
an unincorporated business entity,
Defendant.

The defendant, Pat Tracer, states and alleges as the Answer to the Complaint herein:

- I. Defendant denies each and every one of the allegations made in the Complaint except as otherwise admitted or qualified in this Answer.
- II. Defendant acknowledges the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court of the district of Minnesota in this matter.
- III. Defendant admits operating the web site "Cool Pumpkin Patterns on the Web" through which carving patterns for pumpkins are sold.
- IV. Defendant specifically denies unlawful or willful appropriation of the image titled Grim Reaper, and alleges that plaintiff's image provided only an idea from which defendant created an original work that became the basis for the carving pattern sold through defendant's web site.
- V. Wherefore, Defendant demands relief from the court as follows:
 1. Dismissing plaintiff's claims and granting judgment for defendant in this action.
 2. Granting defendant's attorney's fees, costs, and disbursements incurred in the defense of this action.

Dated this 5th day of November, 2007

Appropriation Rights Forever, LLP

By: _____

Drew Pencil
Attorney at Law
173 Western Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55102
(651) 260-3333